PALM BEACH COUNTY, FL
CIRCUIT CIVIL 7

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION TO COUNTER-DEFENDANT
(PUNITIVE DAMAGES)

[REDACTED] J. [REDACTED], by and through his undersigned counsel, and pursuant to Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.350, hereby requests Production from JEFFREY EPSTEIN of the documents and things described below for the purpose of inspection, copying, photographing, testing or sampling and any other purposes permitted under the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure at the office of the undersigned within thirty (30) days of service of this request.

DEFINITIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS:

A. The term "documents" as used in this Request is defined as including, but not limited to, the original and any non-identical copy (which is different from the original because of notations on such copy or otherwise) of all correspondence, telegrams, teletype messages, contracts (including drafts, proposals and any and all exhibits thereto), draft minutes and addenda, memoranda (including inter and intra office memoranda), memoranda for file, pencil jottings, diary entries, desk calendar entries, reported recollections and other written form of notation of events or intentions, transcripts and recordings of conversations and telephone calls, books, records, photographs, reports, tabulations, charts, books of account, ledgers, invoices, financial statements, purchase orders, receipts, canceled checks and other documentary material not subject to attorney/client privilege, together with any documents thereto, or enclosures therewith. The term "document" shall include data stored, maintained or organized electronically or magnetically through computer equipment, translated, if necessary, by you into comprehensible form.

The term "document includes the complete file or files within which any items constituting a "document" are found, including all such files within your possession, custody or control wherever located, including any branch, local or main offices, and including not only the contents of such files but also the folder, jacket, envelope or other container in which the file is kept or stored.

Each draft, final document, original, reproduction, and each signed and unsigned document and every additional copy of such document where such copy contains any commentary, note, notation or other change whatsoever that does not appear on the original or on the copy of the one document produced shall be deemed and considered to constitute a separate document.

B. As used herein, the following words shall have the meanings indicated:

- (i) "Plaintiffs" in addition to the Plaintiffs named in the full style of this action, shall include any attorney, officer, director, employee or agent of Plaintiffs or any other persons acting under Plaintiffs' control or supervision, or in concert or association with Plaintiffs.

- (ii) "Defendant", in addition to the Defendant named in the full style of this action, shall include any attorney, officer, director, employee or agent of the Defendant or any other persons acting under Defendant's control or supervision, or in concert or association with the Defendant.
- (iii) "You" shall include the person (as defined below) or party to whom this Request is addressed and additionally all of his/her/its agents, officers, directors, employees, and other persons acting or purporting to act on his/her/its behalf, and includes also, to the extent there is no actual privilege, his/her/its attorneys.
- (iv) "Person" means any natural individual in any capacity whatsoever or any entity or organization, including divisions, departments, and other units herein, and shall include, but not be limited to, public or private corporations, partnerships, joint ventures, voluntary or unincorporated associations, organizations, proprietorships, trusts, estates, governmental agencies, commissions, bureaus, or departments, and the agents, servants and employees of same.
- (v) "Concerning" includes referring to, responding to, relating to, connected with, regarding, discussing, analyzing, showing, describing, reflecting, employing and constituting.

- (vi) "Evidencing" means having a tendency to show, prove, or disprove.
- (vii) "Communication" means any oral or written statement, dialogue, colloquy, discussion or conversation, and also means any transfer of thoughts or ideas between persons by means of documents and includes any transfer of data from one location to another by electronic or similar means.
- (viii) "Including" shall mean including but not limited to.
- (ix) The words "and" and "or" as used herein shall be construed either disjunctively or conjunctively as required by the context to bring within the scope of this production request any answer that might be deemed outside its scope by another construction.
- (x) "Related to" or "relating to" shall mean directly or indirectly, refer to, reflect, describe, pertain to, arise out of or in connection with, or in any way legally, logically, or factually be connected with the matter discussed.

C. This Request calls for production of all responsive documents in your possession, custody or control without regard to physical location of said document.

Control means in your possession, custody or control or under your direction, and includes in the possession, custody or control of those under the direction of you and your employees, subordinates, counsel, accountant, consultant, expert, parent or affiliated corporation, and any person purporting to act on your behalf.

D. All documents shall be originals unless otherwise indicated. If your original is a photocopy or other copy, then the photocopy shall be produced as the original.

E. Unless another time period is specified, this Request is addressed to documents created in the past five years from the date of this Request, and ending on the date of compliance with this Request.

F. If you possess no documents responsive to a paragraph in this Request, state this fact, specifying the paragraph concerned.

G. If you object in part to any Request, produce the portion of the documents requested to which you do not object, and state your objections to the remainder.

H. As required by Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.280(b)(5), if you (including your attorneys and agents) are withholding information otherwise discoverable under these rules by claiming that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial preparation material, you (including your attorneys and agents):

(i) Shall make the claim expressly and shall describe the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced or disclosed in a manner that, without revealing the information itself privileged or protected, will enable the party seeking discovery through this Request to assess the applicability of the privilege or protection.

(ii) Provide a brief description of the document, including (a) the date of the document; (b) number of pages, attachments and appendices; (c) the names of its author, authors, preparers and an identification by employment and title of each such person; (d) the name of each person who has sent, shown, or blind carbon copies of the documents, or has had access to or custody of the documents, together with an identification of each such person, and (e) in the case of any document relating or referring to a meeting or conversation, an identification of such meeting or conversation.

I. When appropriate, the singular form of a word should be interpreted in the plural as may be necessary to bring within the scope hereof any documents which might otherwise be construed to be outside the scope hereof.

CONTINUING REQUEST

This is a continuing request for the production of documents to the extent allowed by Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.280(e). At such time as you become aware of the existence of any additional documents responsive to this Request so that your response was not complete when made, you are hereby requested to produce such documents promptly.

DESTROYED DOCUMENTS

If any documents responsive to this Request were at one time in existence, but have been lost or destroyed, a list should be provided of the documents so lost or destroyed stating the following information for each such document: (a) the type of document; (b) the date on which it ceased to exist, (c) the circumstances of its loss or destruction; (d) the identity of all persons having knowledge; and (e) the identity of all persons having knowledge of its contents.

MANNER OF PRODUCTION

Pursuant to Rule 1.350, you should produce the original documents in the form, order and manner in which they are maintained in your files or the files of other persons under your control. In this connection, and for purposes of illustration, documents are to be produced in the file folder and file cartons in which they have been maintained or stored, clipped, stapled or otherwise arranged in the same form and manner as they were found. In the alternative, you should segregate all documents according to the specifications of this Request, and should organize and label each group of documents with the appropriate specifications prior to production. If any document is responsive to more than one specification of this Request, it should be labeled to reflect each specification to which it is responsive.

Prince Andrew's link to sex offender Jeffrey Epstein taints royalty in US

The [REDACTED] of York's friendship with billionaire convicted paedophile Jeffrey Epstein has put him on American front pages

The British press has a new admirer. Spencer Kuvin, a Florida lawyer who has fought several cases for young women alleging sexual abuse by the disgraced billionaire Jeffrey Epstein, is delighted – and relieved – that newspapers are now examining Prince Andrew's relationship with the convicted paedophile.

"I am glad the British press has picked this up," Kuvin told the Observer. "The British people have a right to ask why he [Prince Andrew] is hanging out with a convicted paedophile. I think that is a very good question to be asking."

Kuvin has been asking it for a while. He believes Epstein has in effect got away with most of his crimes because of his wealth and his connections with the powerful and well-connected across America and the world.

"He's fine. He has a great life," he said of the man who spent less than two years in jail after pleading guilty to child sex offences.

That is probably true. Florida law allows anyone to find out the whereabouts of a convicted sex offender via an online database. According to the website last week Epstein's location was St [REDACTED] in the US Virgin Islands in the Caribbean. He owns a private island there: one that Prince Andrew has visited. "Epstein is probably sunning himself on a beach right now," Kuvin said.

The same cannot be said for the [REDACTED] of York. This weekend, as he considers the parlous state of his international reputation, he is likely to feeling a lot less comfortable than his one-time party friend.

It was not meant to be this way for the prince. America is supposed to be a happy hunting ground for the British [REDACTED] family. It is a place where the people see them as exotic celebrities to be feted, admired and placed alongside the homegrown "royalty" of Hollywood.

American citizens and politicians – freed from the burdens of paying for a civil list of their own – can indulge in the sort of innocent worship of monarchical "glam" that typified Britain in the 1950s.

So recent headlines in the US media have come as a bit of a shock. "Seen around town: Prince Andrew and Perv Billionaire," blared the New York Post. "Duchess of York apologises for accepting money from sex offender," read the New York Daily News. So much for the eager anticipation of a slew of good publicity around the marriage of Prince William and Kate Middleton.

It was not just the American tabloids. Even the Wall Street Journal ran a lengthy piece last week prompted by the fallout from Prince Andrew's long friendship and close relations with Epstein, 58, who served 18 months for sexual offences involving underage girls. No wonder New York Post columnist Andrea Peyser weighed in on the controversy about what she called a "bromance" between the pair. Prince Andrew, she concluded, was an "idiot prince".

It is hard to fathom the depths of the PR disaster that continues to unfold around the prince because of his links to Epstein. After he was snapped walking side by side with Epstein through Central Park last December, Andrew has seen his entire globetrotting existence as a trade ambassador put under the microscope. It has not borne up well.

Suddenly his life and times partying with Epstein have become public knowledge, complete with sordid details of being surrounded by young women and being present at topless pool parties. A woman, [REDACTED], who provided sexual services for Epstein and his rich friends while underage, saw the photograph and decided to speak about her experiences. Another picture rapidly surfaced, of [REDACTED] side by side with the prince. To cap it all, Andrew's links to a whole series of unpleasant developing world autocrats and dictators have also come under fresh examination.

None of it has made a pretty picture and the royals – perhaps typically – have been slow to react in any meaningful way. First, the problem was ignored. Then it was dismissed. Only now, belatedly, have they begun to address it with reports that the Queen has talked to Andrew privately. It feels too little, too late.

Like many Europeans, perhaps, Andrew enjoyed the US because of the freedom and opportunities it afforded. The social scene in glittering hotspots like Manhattan and Florida's Palm Beach allowed him to free himself from the stuffy world of aristocratic Britain. He was courted and won over by the rich elite and he repaid the compliment.

No one knows why the prince carried on such a close friendship with a figure like Epstein for so long or why he refused to end it after Epstein went to jail. The facts alone should have been a warning sign. Epstein, a working class Brooklyn boy who became a super-wealthy money manager, was one of the world's most renowned playboys. But in 2008, after a three-year investigation into the young women he and his entourage procured, he wound up in jail. Nor was it an isolated incident. Epstein's case was ended via a plea bargain where he admitted guilt on a charge of felony solicitation of prostitution involving a minor. Yet as many as 40 young women had made allegations against him and, unusually, his plea deal allowed other accusers to sue him in civil court. So far at least 17 of them have settled civil cases against him.

The American drama is far from over for the prince. Instead the legal wranglings around Epstein and his exotic lifestyle threaten to drag the [REDACTED] family right into the US court system.

Epstein is now suing Brad [REDACTED], a lawyer for some of the girls from the original investigation. In turn [REDACTED] is counter-suing Epstein, alleging that the billionaire is using his vast resources to pursue expensive legal cases and thus intimidate other victims and their legal representatives. Either way, Andrew could be pulled into the mess as a witness. [REDACTED] lawyer, Jack Scarola, said last week that his team intended to try and get a statement from the prince about what he may or may not have seen while attending parties with Epstein.

Though the prince is likely to claim diplomatic immunity, that step will not keep his name out of the court papers or the headlines: it will just keep his presence out of the courtroom.

The same thing goes for previous cases involving Epstein. They amount to a potential source of PR torture for the [REDACTED] family as media scrutiny continues. Recently released documents from a different case showed that two of Epstein's closest confidantes – his PA Sarah Ellen and an on-off girlfriend, [REDACTED]va – were repeatedly questioned by Kuvin about whether the prince had been involved in sexual acts with any of Epstein's entourage of young women. Both Ellen and Marcinkova declined to answer the questions and instead took the Fifth Amendment, which allows their legal silence.

Of course, there is no evidence or suggestion that Andrew was involved. But in PR terms there does not need to be. There is even a small chance that the FBI will use some of the new revelations emerging in the media to reopen the criminal case against Epstein, though legal experts think it unlikely.

Even the hint of a possibility of a federal probe is another reason for the headline writers to start sharpening their pens for those with links to Epstein.

Prince Andrew is not the only one. Epstein has partied in New York with numerous people since he left jail, including big names and celebrities like Katie Couric, [REDACTED] Stephanopoulos and Woody [REDACTED]. Perhaps they too should have known better.

CONNECTIONS

■ Ghislaine Maxwell, 49, youngest daughter of Robert Maxwell, the former Daily Mirror proprietor, is considered one of Prince Andrew's more controversial friends. A decade ago, he was reported to have accompanied her to a "hookers and pimps" party in New York. Ghislaine moved to the US in 1991 after the death of her father and became a fixture on the Manhattan party circuit, where she befriended Jeffrey Epstein.

■ Goga Ashkenazi, 31, a glamorous Kazakh oil tycoon, claims to be a "close friend" of Prince Andrew. Ashkenazi, an Oxford-educated socialite and entrepreneur, said: "Britain is very lucky to have him." She was introduced to Andrew in 2001 and they have been friends since. She was his guest at Ascot in 2007, although she denies rumours that they have ever been a couple.

■ Tarek Kaituni, a convicted Libyan gun smuggler, is an old friend. In 2008 he and Andrew enjoyed a four-day holiday to Tunisia. Kaituni was convicted of buying a machine gun in 2005 and secretly attempting to transport it from Holland to France.

Jury Awards $13 Million to Woman Injured in Plummeting Elevator Accident

Partner Brad [REDACTED] received a $13 million verdict on August 31, following a two week jury trial. Thirteen years ago, Janice Beasley (41 years old) was riding in an elevator that plunged several floors before crashing to an abrupt stop. Ms. Beasley sustained significant permanent injuries which have confined her to a wheelchair for nearly 13 years. The defendants sought to avoid responsibility for this accident, which Ms. Beasley believed was both preventable and the cause of more than a decade of life-changing medical problems.

Justice for Amputee in Plane Propeller Accident

The attorneys and staff at [REDACTED] Jaffe Weissing are proud to have been able to assist out client Mr. [REDACTED], whose arm had to be amputated as a result of an airplane propeller accident, in his pursuit of justice and fair compensation, and to hold Greenwich Insurance Co. to its obligations. This case highlights the importance of obtaining insurance coverage to account for the possibility that an injury could occur on ones premise and how too often insurance companies disregard their contractual obligations and leave prudent businesses exposed to potentially devastating judgments.

Floridians at the Mercy of Private Insurance Companies

Read Gary M. [REDACTED] Jr's important editorial on State Farm's recent request for a 14.9% insurance rate increase. Why does State Farm Insurance Co. seek a "statewide average increase"? The simple and sad answer: Because it can.

So what should homeowners and renter do? Ask for additional public hearing regarding the renters' insurance and all other insurance rate increases. And tell the Office of Insurance Regulation to reject State Farm's unreasonable price hikes.

Firm Cases Recognized as Top Florida Verdicts & Settlements for 2011

Firm Attorney's Matt Weissing, Brad [REDACTED] and Gabriel F. Zambrano's cases were recently published in the Daily Business Review and VerdictSearch.com's Top Florida Verdicts and Settlements for 2011.

Matt Weissing and Brad Edward's premises liability case was against Festival Fun [REDACTED] LLC Doing Business as Boomers. A young man with a promising football career was shot in the parking lot and sustained permanent nerve injury due to the property's lack of security. Following a two-week trial, a Broward County jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4,255,280.00.

Gabriel F. Zambrano and co-counsel's product liability case was against R.J. [REDACTED] Tobacco Company and Phillip Morris. They represented a widow whose husband was a smoker. The case alleged that the cigarettes caused the man's fatal lung cancer. A jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $3,551,277.00.

Class Action Case Against CNA Receives Preliminary Approval

Our client's class action case against CNA, for Attorney's Steven Jaffe and Mark Fistosdiscrimination against Nurse Registries in FL, has received preliminary approval from Federal Judge Zlock.

[REDACTED] Jaffe Weissing attorneys Steven Jaffe and Mark Fistos were named Class Counsel. Final approval hearing is set for September 27th, 2012.

"We have total confidence that Judge Zlock will enter a final order at the September hearing, thus ending the discriminatory practices of CNA," said Jaffe. "Nurse Registries around the state should be very happy."

Gabriel F. Zambrano Joins [REDACTED] Jaffe Weissing

We are pleased to announce that trial attorney Gabriel F. Zambrano has joined the [REDACTED] Jaffe Weissing team. Zambrano's practice will focus on mass torts, defective drugs, defective medical products, personal injury and wrongful death litigation.

Zambrano gained national prominence as an early advocate on behalf of girls and women that suffered life altering blood clots, strokes or heart damage from use of the DROSPIRENONE (DRSP) containing birth control pills trademarked and manufactured by BAYER HEALTHCARE PHARMACEUTICALS: YASMIN, YAZ, BEYAZ & SAFYRAL. He is currently accepting and investigating cases involving PRADAXA (DABIGATRAN ETEXILATE), a FDA blood thinner and NUVARING VAGINAL RING contraceptives linked to fatal blood clots, strokes, pulmonary emboli and deep vein thrombosis.

Zambrano is also fluent in Spanish.

Gary M. [REDACTED], Sr.'s 4th DCA Ruling Quoted in The Atlantic Magazine Regarding the Trayvon [REDACTED] Shooting

Gary [REDACTED], Sr.'s 4th DCA opinion was quoted in The Atlantic regarding the Trayvon [REDACTED] shooting... Here's how one Florida appellate judge, in a 2006 ruling, interpreted the low legal threshold necessary to move the burden of proof on self-defense from people like Zimmerman to prosecutors:

To repeat, the law did not require defendant to prove his justification of self-defense to any standard ...measuring an assurance of truth. He did not have to prove the exigency of self-defense to a near certainty (reasonable doubt) or even to a mere probability (greater weight). His only burden was to offer additional facts from which it could be true, that his resort to such force could have been reasonable (emphasis in original). Click this link to read Mr. [REDACTED] 2006 ruling.

Support Team Lindsay - Crohn's & Colitis Take Steps Walk

Once again Steffi and I (Steve Jaffe) have formed Team Lyndsay - Take Steps & Be Heard - Crohn's & Colitis Team Lindsay to walk in our annual Take Steps Walk on Saturday April 28, 2012. This year the Walk will be held in A NEW LOCATION at ArtsPark on Young Circle in Hollywood. Last year's event drew more than 1,500 people and raised over $200,000. This year's event promises to be a fun filled evening for the entire family.

As you all know our daughter Lindsay was diagnosed with Crohn's disease when she was 15 years old. She has done remarkably well for herself despite the flair ups and hospitalizations that she has endured over the years. She became an accomplished scholarship athlete, playing soccer at Appalachian State University. She has graduated and is pursuing a career in Sports Administration. We are so proud of her. Unfortunately, others have not fared as well as Lindsay, nearly 1.5 million Americans, many who are children suffer from Crohn's and Colitis and the number of people being diagnosed each year is increasing. The funds we raise through the Take Steps Walk will help support world class scientific research and sponsor educational programs and services for those afflicted with these diseases. Our hope is that others will be able to manage the disease as well as Lindsay has so far.

We would really appreciate your support. Please visit Team Lindsay page. Just click on this link and sign up to be a team member on Team Lindsay. It will be a fun night. There will be plenty of food and entertainment, if you are unable to attend the walk, any donation is greatly appreciated.
